

Beloved children's character makes exciting return to screens

By Tom Livingstone

Humphrey B. Bear returning to Aussie screens

HUMPHREY B BEAR RETURNS

1 NOW

RICK ASTLEY ON TODAY

2

"IT'S GETTING WORSE"

3

'BIG FLOOD' ANNIVERSARY

4

For six decades, Humphrey B. Bear has been entertaining Aussie children, with parents and grandparents also sharing memories of the cherished television character from their own youths.

The character first appeared on Nine's Adelaide channel, NWS-9 back in 1965, on the children's program Here's Humphrey.

Humphrey became an instant success, entertaining preschoolers right around the country for years to come. with his adventures in the magical forest and an opening theme song which was a total ear worm.

Subscribe to the Today newsletter here. (Nine)

Humphrey first appeared on Channel Nine in 1965. (NWS-9)

READ MORE: All the highlights from Tim's incredible week in Japan

Excitement for the beloved character also reached overseas, with Here's Humphrey streaming to 46 other countries and reaching an audience of 144 million at its peak.

But times change and Humphrey is well aware, that's why he is branching into the world of social media, with new content being published on his very own YouTube channel.

"Parents, grandparents, great-grandparents want their kids to grow up with the love and the magic of the bear,' Humphrey's guardian, Craig Kocinski told Today Extra.

Humphrey now has his own successful YouTube channel. (Today Extra)

"Humphrey loves everybody, everyone is his friend and he is everybody's friend, he looks at each day the best way possible, he's very positive and I think that's what keeps him youthful."

You can watch new episodes on Humphrey B. Bear on his official Youtube channel